75 Years Young

History of Ann Arbor Civic Theatre

Ann Arbor Civic Theatre was founded in 1929 (a year after the first Academy Awards were presented!). After 4 years of organizing, the theatre presented its first drama, The Late Christopher Bean. The performance venues have changed, the offices and personnel have changed, but we are still here. Seventy-five years and over 450 shows later, we continue to provide theatre opportunities for all members of the community, as well as to provide quality entertainment for Southeast Michigan and Northeast Ohio.

A2CT is one of the few theatre companies in Ann Arbor that always casts its shows based on open auditions. That means everyone has a shot to get on the Civic Theatre stage. New volunteers are welcomed as well. In the average season, Ann Arbor Civic Theatre utilizes over 350 people both in front of the footlights and behind the scenes. A2CT is also proud to promote partnerships with the community.

Ann Arbor Civic Theatre's Mission

Ann Arbor Civic Theatre is a community theatre group. We exist to provide opportunities for the members of the community to participate in theatre.

Ann Arbor Civic Theatre values and promotes creative excellence and personal artistic growth through:

- Presentation of quality theatre performances for the community
- Open invitation for participation in all aspects of theatrical production
- Development of talent through educational, apprenticeship, and performance opportunities

W

here does Ann Arbor Civic Theatre invest?

Between the years 1999 and 2003, all of Ann Arbor Civic Theatre's assets were invested in laddered Certificates of Deposit rather than volatile equity markets. Because of this prudent choice, no Civic Theatre funds were lost during the volatile years of stock decline and our location change.

In 2003, the A2CT Finance Committee decided that more stability had returned to the equity markets, and 25% of the funds were invested in a Transmarket Mutual Fund (because of the low fee structure and broad investment across the stock market). While this investment may not experience large rapid gains, the advantage is that it is relatively non-volatile. These investments are made over a period of several months so that we can take advantage of the dollar cost averaging strategy.

Non-Profits depend on companies like yours
When, during WWII, Winston Churchill was advised to cut arts funding, he answered, "Good God no! What do you think we're fighting for?" Well, the facts today are that arts funding in Michigan is lower than ever, and non-profit arts groups are feeling the crunch of the economy as much as everyone else.

A2CT ticket sales account for only 60% of our operating budget. The remainder comes from sponsors, members, and participants.

Donating to Ann Arbor Civic Theatre

Just as it was during the Renaissance, artists depend upon the patronage of sponsors like you in order to make their dreams a reality. Many people don't realize that a theatre cannot function based upon ticket sales alone. A2CT ticket sales account for only 60% of our operating budget. The remainder comes from sponsors, members, and participants. Also, ask A2CT about installment payment plans.

A2CT Activities

Our theatre is involved in the following activities:

- Producing its own theatrical productions
- Performance, technology, and educational workshops
- Children's theatre through our A2CT Junior Theatre
- Space, costume and equipment rental to the community
- Partnerships with other theatres for space, marketing & production
- Participation in community events like the Dexter-Ann Arbor Run, Taste of Ann Arbor, Fourth of July Parade, etc.

Reasons for Donating

- An opportunity to give back to the community that has given so much to you.
- An expression of your company's values.
